ADDITIONAL MUNI JUDGE FOR NORTH COUNTY

State OK's New Judge For Northern S. M. County

A bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis has been unanimously passed by the State Assembly to give the Northern Judicial District an additional municipal judge.

The Francis measure was endorsed by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, the San Mateo County Grand Jury and the San Mateo County Bar Association.

The Northern Judicial District consists of the cities and towns of Daly City, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Pacifica, Colma, Brisbane and Bayshore City.

In arguing for the passage of the measure, Francis said, "Although the Northern Judicial District consists of 139,000 people, it has only one judge, while the Central Judicial District, consisting of 134,000, has two judges. The Southern Judicial District also has two judges.

"It is believed that if the Northern Judicial District had an additional judge, it would alleviate the hardships to litigants caused by the length of time which now elapses before a case comes to trial. This would promote better administration of justice."

Francis pointed out statistics to justify the additional municipal judge in the Northern Judicial District as follows:

"In 1953, there were 471 civil actions filed. In 1958, the number increased to 826, and in 1960, to 1,180. Small claims actions have increased from 717 in 1953 to 859 in 1958 to 1,025 in 1960.

"In 1953, there were 27,959 civil and criminal cases which

REV. HODGES WINS FIGHT FOR LIFE IN BAY ORDEAL

"The sun went behind a cloud for a while, and then suddenly shown as brightly as I've ever seen just over the rim of the mountains."

It was this late-evening glow of light which highlighted Reverend Lynn Hodges' capsized boat against the bay waters, catching the attention of a San Francisco Bay fisherman, which eventually saved the life of the pastor of Daly City's Westlake Community Baptist Church.

In a special telephone interview to the WESTLAKE TIMES, Rev. Hodges reported his three-hour fight for life last Thursday evening in the bay waters just off Alameda's Naval Air Station.

The day began as a fishing engagement with Reverend Jack Winn, pastor of the San Lorenzo Baptist Church in Alameda.

"I left Jack just before five o'clock," reflected Rev. Hodges, "and started back across the bay in the boat, a 15-foot fiberglass runabout."

"There was water in the boat, but I thought it merely deposits from a few high waves. But about one-third the way across the bay I noticed it was coming through the bottom of the runabout.

"I tried in vain to bail it out," Rev. Hodges continued. "I just couldn't keep up with the amount of water coming in; something apparently split in the bottom of the boat.

"All of a sudden I was in the drink, and the boat turned over, floating with an air bubble under the front keel.

"The water was very cold, and I thought it best—and I think it was the right decision—to swim for the Alameda shore."

When asked what his thoughts were during his time in the bay waters, Rev. Hodges recalled:

"I knew it was a fight for my life. The coldness and tide made it tough. I had a lot of thoughts.

"I was thinking of the best ways to make the most of the situation, naturally. Yes, I prayed. But I felt that other more deserving men had not been spared; people are not indespensable.

"I wasn't making a prayer meeting out of it. But I asked God to help me out of my troubles. And I hoped I wouldn't get cramps.

"I feel God did intervene.

"You see, the sun went behind the clouds for a while, and when the sun came out, it suddenly shown bright as I've ever seen just over the rim of the mountains.

"It was this light which caught the floating peak of my boat and enabled that fisherman to call the Coast Guard.

Store Couple Found Guilty In Smut Trial

Daly City cigar store operators Jack and Mae Shaver, were found guilty by a jury of nine men and three women Monday for selling obscene literature in their store located at 6264 Mission street.

The verdict came after a four-day trial in Judge Charles Becker's courtroom in Municipal Court of the Northern Judicial District in South San Francisco.

The jury found the Shavers guilty on three counts. They were selling, keeping for sale, distributing and exhibiting indecent writing (papers and books).

The Daly City couple were ordered by Judge Becker to return June 20 at 1:30 p.m. for probation and sentencing. The pair have been released on bail of $367.50 each.

Local police raided the Shavers' cigar store on February 21 and seized some 700 paperback books.

During the trial, police officers told the court that the couple had been warned to take the books from the newsracks, and although the couple complied for a few days after, the police found the books back on the racks.

Police confiscated a number of lurid novels with such enticing titles as "Sex Jungle"; "Sex Pot"; "Sex Gang"; and "Naked Holiday."

Gazzano Takes Top Honors In Golf Tourney

Lou Gazzano, 49, assistant manager of the Westlake Branch of the Bank of America, won the hole-in-one contest at last week's Golden Jubilee Open at Lake Merced Golf Club by cupping out on his first shot at the special 75-yard hole.

It was a repeat of his last year's performance when he aced out in the contest at the Chamber of Commerce sponsored tourney.

Gazzano, one-time caddy who has played golf since he was 14 years old, also tied the day's low medal score with an even par 72 round.

He aced the 75-yard hole with a nine iron for this third hole-in-one since taking up the game 35 years ago. He shoots to a five handicap and has won the California State Tournament for Bank of America employees five times since 1929.

The event, which included an awards dinner at the clubhouse, drew 141 golfers, including some of the top amateurs in the Bay Area.

Bob Silvestri, three-time San Francisco City Champion, made his playing debut as a professional, and tied Less Lesser for low pro honors with a par 72.

Best net scores in the tournament were:

Class A—Nelson Cullenward, 69; George Gnau, 70; Art Linhares, 70; Bill Kennedy, 70.

SANITATION DISTRICT OK's PARK FOR SEWAGE HOOKUP

The North San Mateo County Sanitation District has agreed to give Callan Park sewage hookup.

The district's directors on Monday authorized their attorney James P. Morton to prepare a draft contract for joint sewage disposal between the sanitation district and the Callan Park Water District.

Morton told the directors he would try to have the draft ready for them at their meeting next Monday.

Directors did not specify what terms or conditions for the contract they will insist upon, but requested that Morton propose in the draft various terms and conditions. The board will delete or add to the contract when it reviews the draft possibly on Monday.

The contract will probably be a permanent service condition, and possibly may include a termination clause, with a number of other stipulations, Morton told this newspaper.

Morton was not prepared to say what Callan Park Water District's fee for complete service will be. He said the water district will be held accountable to pay its share of the district's taxes, regular hookup and connection charges, plus the cost of providing for services that the district normally does not provide, such as high-lift pumping, and ultimately, servicing Callan's independent disposal plant.

Morton said that an independent disposal plant will have to be built eventually, and this de-

Colma Branch Bank Of America Starts Expansion

Work began this week on the expansion of Bank of America's Colma Branch, located at the intersection of San Pedro road and Mission and Rainier streets.

Manager John Ferrari said the rear section of the branch will be extended along Mission street and the south property line to provide 735 additional square feet of floor space.

"More than half of this increase will be in our lobby area," Ferrari said, "giving greater convenience to customers, especially during busy periods."

"The expansion will provide room for a merchants' booth;

TEEN-AGER FACES CHARGES IN COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT

An 18-year-old San Francisco boy today is facing court authorities to answer charges of possession of stolen property, contributing to the delinquency of minors, and harboring runaway juniviles, the Daly City Police Department reported recently.

The youth was arrested following an investigation into the disappearance of two Daly City girls, 16 and 14, who had been missing for 12 days.

Police Officer James Doran, on his routine beat on Scenic Way, interrupted a teenage couple, both 16, in a parked car. Upon questioning, the girl confessed to be the elder of two local runaway girls, and admitted the hiding place of the other girl in downtown San Francisco.

Later the girls admitted to meeting the two San Francisco brothers, 18 and 16, in downtown San Francisco a few days after their runaway escape. They dated the boys, then lived with them for eight days until their capture.

Contrary to one girl's statement, the elder brother denied knowledge the girls were runaways. Officer Doran also found three tombstones and an urchine, later identified as stolen property, in the elder brother's room.

Both girls are in Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, and the elder brother is on trial for three counts. The younger brother has been released and is now in the care of his mother, divorced, of San Francisco.

PG&E OFFICE MOVES TO W'LAKE IN JUNE

Daly City's business office of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., now at 12 Wellington avenue, will move to 11 Southgate avenue, in Westlake, sometime near the end of June.

Manager J. A. Rohl explained that the move to the new quarters will give them twice the working area that they now have. The new office will share the ground floor of a new two-story building. Despite the additional office space, Rohl said he does not anticipate adding any new personnel.

The present service center office, located at 450 Eastmoor avenue, in Westlake, will remain, there, and service will not be effected in any way, he said.

Features of the new office include fluorescent lighting, new desks and chairs, a complete air conditioning system, and an asbestos tile floor.

Agreement Reached; Work On New High School Now Underway

Following a week of apparent misunderstandings, construction at Terra Nova High School site was vigorously resummed and difficult working relations resolved.

Disagreement over responsibility to connect Terra Nova utility terminals with mains some 200 feet from school property threatened to seriously curtail construction operations and the fall semester deadline.

Jefferson Union High School District Superintendent Edward Morgan reported not only resolution of problems with subdivision contractors, Oddstad Homes, but also a savings to the school district of $1,800.

During last week's Monday night Jefferson High Board of Trustees meeting, Terra Nova architect Corwin Booth of Falk & Booth in San Francisco, had sought and obtained authority to expend another $600 for temporary water pipe extensions, and permission to meet with Oddstad Homes representatives Tuesday to settle disagreements over responsibility for making a final 200-foot permanent water connection.

Both Booth and Morgan affirmed that Oddstad Homes was the only one which could lay the pipe, traversing their land to meet connections at the Terra Nova project.

An immediate solution to the problem was urgently needed in order to meet the fall semester deadline, so that Terra Nova High could absorb the overflow of students already in double session this spring at Westmoor High.

Andrew Oddstad, owner of Oddstad Homes and subdivision developer at Linda Mar in Pacifica, said, "We are happy to cooperate with them now as in the past. However, we feel they should develop this 200 feet of water line."

"We have already," he continued, "developed land, curbs, sewers and laid roads which I will not be able to develop for several years to come in order

Attendance Areas For School Pupils Told By Foster

Attendance areas and the names of those schools within these areas, which will serve an estimated 8,500 pupils of the city's elementary age youngsters, were announced this week by Dist. Supt. Richard Foster of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The district has divided the city into 11 areas, or what is referred to as attendance centers. Where you live determines the attendance area you are in. The various school or schools within these areas are referred to as the attendance center.

Some areas contain more of a school population than others, hence usually more than one will serve a specified area. In a similar manner, some areas cover a larger geographic area than others.

The map adjoining this story shows the attendance areas within the district, their boundaries, and the school or schools serving the area. If the street you live on falls within certain boundary lines your child is considered a resident of this attendance center. Each of the

NO DECISION ON FREEWAY LATERAL YET; COMMISSION

The State Highway Commission adjourned from its May meeting recently in Sacramento without reaching a decision on which of the two routes the lateral freeway connecting Junipero Serra to Skyline Blvd. will take.

Six commissioners and the director of public works discussed the pros and cons of both Routes A-1-D and B, but were not in agreement on the most feasible route. The commission is expected to take the matter up again on June 21 and 22, during their June meeting. The commission meets for a few days each month to take up business matters.

Daly City city officials have gone on record as favoring the A-1-D route, while the County Planning Commission favors Route B. The State Highway Commission has reversed itself from an earlier stand, and thinks the Route A-1-D plan is "feasible."

The State Highway Commission last month held a public hearing in Daly City on the matter, which drew strong interest.

After hearing many arguments for either of the two proposed routes, the commission said it would study both routes carefully before making a final decision.

series of three successive innoculations," Napoletano states, "and thereafter the National Polio Foundation recommends one yearly booster shot to keep the Salk Vaccine at its most effective level of immunization.

"In recent years the seriousness of polio has been overshadowed in the public eye by the many reports of heart attacks and cancer, and we live in hope and prayer that some day medical research will find a means of combating these killers."

"Most certainly people don't want to contract polio," he continued, "and since the disease can strike anyone regardless of age or sex, why haven't they availed themselves of such a simple and proven means of protection? I can think of only three possible reasons, or perhaps better termed as excuses, and pose these directly to you if you haven't been inoculated. One is, 'I'm too busy today, maybe next time.' The second is 'Other people get polio, but I know I won't, so why bother.' The third is 'It costs money, so I'll gamble.' "

Post 824 has been giving shots on an average of once a month for the past year, keeps personal records of all innoculations and sends reminders advising people when their next shot is due. First, second, third and booster shots will be available on Saturday, as well as on future dates to be announced in this paper.

to facilitate the school's development, and now I think they should pay for this water line."

Solution came in an unexpected manner:

In a telephone interview with the Westlake Times, Superintendent Morgan informed, "It was a matter of two different sets of plans.

"We're out here at the site now, and we've found that the Oddstad plans and ours do not match, particularly in regard to station numbers."

Additionally, Morgan said, several agreements have been made between the organizations concerned to facilitate construction of Terra Nova and solve its utilities problems:

1) Lee Brohard of PG&E has received Oddstad's certification that curbs will be installed in the future. Therefore, Morgan said, PG&E will put in sewer lines before Oddstad puts in the curbs, thus giving Terra Nova sewer facilities for the school's fall opening.

2) Mr. Trippolleti of Oddstad Homes considered that a fire hose will replace the current temporary construction, two-inch water metal pipe. This will allow grading operations to occur by moving the hose instead of re-routing the pipe. This also saves the school district its $600 authorized last week for the temporary pipe extension.

3) Warren McClure of the North Coast Water District said his organization would purchase new 10-inch water pipe to replace the previously-acceptable eight-inch pipe main which lacked a 200-foot connection to Terra Nova.

Shortly after laying the eight-inch pipe, the school and Oddstad both were informed the water district had decided a larger pipe size was needed to maintain adequate service when all homes in the area are constructed, and

4) The water company also agreed to give Oddstad advanced credit to put in pressure reducing stations. This is a saving of $1,200.

Although an architect, Booth asserted at last week's board meeting, "Our business is one of continual problems and the solution to these problems."

Superintendent Morgan at the same meeting explained, "Problems of this nature inevitably occur due to the complexity of developing new lands, matching specifications of city and county and utility companies, and matching subdivision building."

CALLAN VOTE OFF; SSF WON'T ANNEX

South San Francisco City Council in an adjourned meeting last week, and at the request of the Callan Park owners, adopted a resolution rescinding the resolution calling for a special August election, and at the next regular June 5 meeting will adopt an ordinance rescinding an earlier ordinance to annex the controversial proposed housing development.

In other words, Callan officials do not want to be a part of the City of South San Francisco nor do they wish to be the subject of a stormy election. Callan Park will be developed within San Mateo County.

Bert Williams, a co-partner of the Callan firm, appeared before the council with a letter from the firm, which he asked to have accepted and read and filed by the council. The letter requested the council to rescind the resolution calling for a special election, and also it requested that the council withdraw from any attempts to annex Callan Park to the city. The council agreed to these requests.

Callan Park has been a controversial matter ever since it was conceived of a few years ago.

Owners of the proposed housing development eyed Daly City a couple of years ago as the community they would most like to grow with. Similar to what has just occurred in South San Francisco, there was considerable wrangling here between the city council and residents. A special election on the matter was called, and Daly City voters turned down the annexation.

Weeks ago, the Callan Park issue came up all over again. This time though, it was an effort to become part of South San Francisco. The effort was to prove in vain. The City Council there grabbed at the chance to take in the property, which eventually would help to double their present 40,000 population. They issued an ordinance of annexation. Then is when the trouble began. Irate residents and groups formed protesting the action of the council, and demanded a vote in the issue.

The issue grew hotter by the day. As a matter of fact, the Callan matter became a rather personal thing among politicans there.

The City Taxpayers Assn. circulated 34 petitions protesting the move, and got 2,017 names of residents who agreed that the annexation issue should be put up to a vote of the people. The petitions were filed with the city clerk's office.

Council meetings in which the Callan issue came up were hot and loud, often containing a circus-like atmosphere. Finally, the council under extreme pressure, agreed on a resolution calling for a special election on August 8 to decide the issue.

The Callans, apparently foreseeing time and money lost, have undoubtedly seen the writing on the wall, and realize they're fighting impossible odds, hence, they have made a move to end the whole matter.

The Callans, (Michael and Thomas, Jr.), and their civil engineer recently appeared before the directors of the North County Sanitation District in Daly City and requested sewage hookup with the district.

You see, this is the thing I can't explain."

And the Coast Guard came, flew over the capsized small runabout in the helicopter, and traced the current down the south end of Alameda where Rev. Hodges was recovered.

Rev. Hodges several times tried to reach Alameda's shore, only a hundred yards away at a point just opposite the new Alameda Shopping Center, but the strong tide kept him away from safety.

The Westlake Community Baptist Church pastor was recovered approximately at 8 p.m. by the helicopter and taken to the Alameda Naval Air Station, and shortly thereafter flown to the International Airport where he was given first aid at the Coast Guard Sickport.

Later, Rev. Hodges was driven in an ambulance to his home at 141 Westmoor avenue, where he resides with his wife.

Asked if he plans to buy another boat, Rev. Hodges replied, "Well, we'll have to wait a while and see how we feel about it later."

Children now attending any one of the district's schools will have the attendance center, figured out according to their street address, which they belong in, stamped on their final report card.

Attendance center 1 is bounded by Mission street, the San Francisco City-County line, Hillside blvd., and the Daly City city limits. Three schools service this area. They are General Pershing, Crocker and George Washington.

Attendance Center No. 2 is bounded by the city-county line to the north, Junipero Serra to the west and the west side of El Camino as far south as the Colma City limits. Serving this area are Woodrow Wilson and Jefferson Schools.

Attendance Center No. 3 is bounded on the north by Hillside, on the west by the east side of El Camino to the Colma City limits. Four schools serve this area. They are Vista Grande, Thornton, Colma K-6, and Colma Upper.

Attendance Center No. 4 is bounded on the north by the San Francisco City-County line, on the west by Skyline, on the south by Fairlawn, and on the east by Junipero Serra. Schools serving this area are Olympia, Fernando Rivera, and Westlake.

Attendance Center 6 is bounded by Wildwood (both sides of street) to the north; Westmoor (north and west) to the east, and Skyline to the east. Serving this area is the Vista Mar School.

Attendance Center 7 runs from the San Francisco City-County line, is bounded by Skyline on the east, and the Pacific Ocean on the west, and runs south to the vicinity of Longview drive. Pupils living in this area are bussed in to Abraham Lincoln School.

Area 8 is bounded by Westmoor (south and east), Mariposa, Belhaven and Skyline. Serving this area in the education center are Abraham Lincoln School and Thomas Edison School. Persons living on Southgate and Perita are considered to be in Area 8.

Schools that serve this area are Benjamin Franklin, Garden Village, and M. Pauline Brown.

Attendance Center 9 is bounded by Belhaven to the north, Junipero Serra to the east, Skyline to the west, and the Colma City Limits on the south. Serving this area is Christopher Columbus School.

COUNTY AUTO TAX BILL NOW IN LEGISLATURE

A 50 per cent increase in yearly vehicle license taxes levied by local counties now is being considered by the State Legislature, Senate Bill 1294.

It would, for example, increase existing license fees for new Fords or Chevrolets from $42 to $63, for a three-year-old Plymouth from $20 to $30, and for a new Cadillac $110 to $165.

Taxes, it is believed, should be levied only when they are needed, and upon those who would benefit from civic improvements developed by said tax money.

Bill 1294 would extract $62 million more each year from automobile owners by the counties, but there is no apparent condition that old monies would continue to be used for city and county road development.

Last year the State Senate drew up an important resolution concerning county or local motor vehicle taxation:

1) That a uniform system of taxation of motor vehicles is absolutely necessary on a state level to insure efficiency and purpose to highway construction;

2) That suggested local vehicle taxation creates problems of tax evasion, enforcement and collection difficulties, and lack of uniformity and intrastate barriers on travel;

3) That distribution of state monies collected must be made on the basis of need rather than localized wealth (which has resulted in California leadership of highway development) and

4) That because local taxation would impair the present complex balance of federal-state-local needs, the California State Senate declared "local taxation is inconsistent and detrimental to both the spirit and intent of the present law."

In addition to increasing the already exhorbitant auto and gas taxes and personal property tax, there is no assurance in Bill 1294 that expenditure of funds derived will be made on important county roads, and no system of major county roads is referred to in the bill.

S. V. Christierson, California State Automobile Association president, denounced the bill as giving counties a foot into the field of taxing motor vehicles, and creating a high and unfair tax on motor vehicles in relation to taxes on other personal property.

Christierson summarized: "We feel the reasons underlying those legislative resolutions (of last year) were sound and are just as valid today. We urge all members of the motoring public to join us in opposition to this bill."

'Ivy' Lawn Case Goes To Court For Decision

A demurrer was argued in Superior Court Monday before Judge Joseph A. Branson, between attorneys in the Jack Klein case, and then the case was handed over for a court decision. Judge Branson's decision is not expected before July.

(A demurrer is a pleading to an action, which, assuming the truth in the matter alleged by the opposite party, states that it is insufficient in law to sustain the claim.)

An attorney for the Kleins and Hartley Appleton, San Francisco attorney for the Westlake Improvement Assn. argued the case.

The Kleins of 97 Lake Forest drive, are charged with violating landscaping restrictions established by the Westlake Improvement Assn. The association charges that the Kleins repeatedly refused to comply with landscaping restrictions. The Kleins, in turn, state that as second buyers they did not know of the restrictions.

Some time ago, the Kleins alledgedly tore out what they called "rotten lawn" and replaced it with ivy, which the association has frowned upon.

Appleton said although a suit has been filed, papers have still not been served and that for Monday's action it was not necessary to have served the papers. He referred to Monday's court action as "just legal gymnastics." He offered no further explanation.

Callan Park

pends upon how fast the proposed housing development grows.

C. L. White, civil engineer for the sanitation district, told directors at the last meeting that the district has the capacity to service 2,800 more homes. The Callan intend to build only 89 homes in the first unit.

Long range plans by the Callans call for 200 homes. Morton said when this occurs, an independent disposal plant will then be necessary.

The Callans recently went before the directors and requested sewage hookup to the district, anticipating possible defeat in their attempt to annex their housing development to South San Francisco.

Last week they asked the city council there to rescind the resolution calling for a special election on the issue, also to rescind an ordinance by the council to annex the development, which the council did.

Callan Park will be developed within the county now. It lies geographically within the sanitation district, and therefore can be serviced by it.

Bethel Drill Team Takes First Place

This month has been very busy for the members of the 1960 National Champion Drill Team of Bethel 198, Daly City, and their new captain, Linda Long.

First the girls participated in the Holy Ghost Festival at Pescadero.

The second parade was a competitive drill at Santa Rosa. This is where they took first place. The following day they took part in another Holy Ghost Festival at Half Moon Bay.

Big Mystery Solved— 'Twas Slumber Party

Members of Daly City Bethel 198 were recently taken on a mystery trip, and ended up at their associate guardian's home.

The girls were amazed to see their sleeping bags and nightclothes waiting for them as they entered.

Then the mystery was solved —a slumber party, although very few of the 25 girls slept.

The next morning the girls were taken to Bayshore Bowl where they ate a breakfast consisting of pancakes, orange juice, and coffee, tea or milk.

There's one reason plants go out of bloom before they should and it just doesn't make sense. Namely: people don't keep the blooms picked. Roses, Stocks, Pansies and other favorites will keep blooming for you if you only do them the honor of cutting their blooms.

The Shoreline Variety Show is scheduled for Friday, June 2 and Saturday, June 3 at the Vallemar School in Pacifica. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. Tickets are being sold at the Recreation Department in the City Hall, and donations for the affair will be $1.

Sun, water and food are the three ingredients of successful Chrysanthemum growing. Assuming you considered the first of these at planting time, supply the others in generous proportion now and you'll have all the color you need this fall. Water should never be lacking or Chrysanthemum stems harden off and slow down the growth. Food as an added factor should be supplied every two or three weeks. A fourth factor—pinching to encourage dense growth — should be continued until mid-July.

U. C. Anthropologists Study Our Ancestors; Were They Baboons?

If human beings are afraid of the dark, afraid of falling, and afrair of snakes, their fears may have precedence in the behavior of their primate ancestors.

These and other similarities between human and primate behavior, as well as differences, are reported in the June "Scientific American" by two anthropologists from the University of California, Berkeley, who recently spent a year in Africa researching social behavior of baboons.

Professors Sherwood L. Washburn and Irven DeVore, searching for clues from which to reconstruct a behavior pattern for primitive, pre-agricultural man, lived among baboon colonies.

Washburn and DeVore studied the baboon, they write, because "it is a ground-living primate and as such is confronted with the same kind of problems that faced our ancestors when they left the trees."

Baboons, the researchers say, are social animals, living in apparent friendship and harmony in troops ranging in size from 40 to 80 members.

After observing scores of troops, the re-searchers report these similarities to human behavior:

Juvenile baboons come together in playgroups that persist several years.

Social behavior among baboons, beyond infantile reflexive clinging, requires learning.

The learning that brings the individual baboon into full participation in the social structure begins with the mother-child relationship.

If a juvenile is hurt and cries out during play, adults come running and stop the play.

Differences observed by Washburn and DeVore are led in significance by three:

Baboons heve multiple mates and do not participate in prolonged male-female relationships.

Baboons communications are largely gestural, devoid of language.

Baboons occupy no permanent homesites and make no provisions for caring for their sick or injured.

GAS TAX MONIES FOR DALY CITY TOLD

A record total of $33,812,485.46 in State gasoline tax revenues has been apportioned to the 372 incorporated cities in California for city street work during the past fiscal year, State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack announced recently.

This is $1,731,854 more than last year's record $32,080,631.

The total apportionment to Daly City for city street work for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, was $131,988.88.

This amount is the revenue from five-eighths of a cent per gallon out of the State gasoline taxes paid by highway users. It is apportioned by the State Division of Highways from the State Highway Fund on a population basis as specified by State law.

As in previous years, Los Angeles tops the list in the amount of five-eighths cent gas tax money received with a total of $7,497,283. Amador, the smallest incorporated city in the state, is again at the bottom of the list with an apportionment of $529.81.

Heavy Outlays for Aid to Polio Victims Cause Drain on March of Dimes Funds

"The National Foundation has the distinction and the honor of having exhausted its March of Dimes funds for patient aid," Basil O'Connor, its president, announced recently.

"Therefore, the March of Dimes has a $45 million job to do in 1961," he added.

"But we always have had a tremendous job to do and have relied on the American people for financial support through the March of Dimes each January," he said. "At the same time, however, we do not live just from year to year but build broad research, educational and patient-aid programs for much longer periods. Continuation of these programs will require $45 million in 1961."

Speaking of the "urgent monetary needs of the 1961 New March of Dimes," to be held Jan. 2-31, the leader of the world's largest voluntary health organization explained that in 1960 about one-third of its 3,100 chapters had gone into debt to meet hospital and other bills for aid to polio patients.

"But our chapters are proud that they have not built up bank balances at the expense of human lives," he said.

Since 1938, when The National Foundation (for Infantile Paralysis) was organized, a total of $325,200,000 has been spent for direct patient aid to polio victims. In 1960, the bill was about $13,250,000 for some 40,000 of the polio-stricken. Although the Salk vaccine has been available to the public for five years, patient-aid costs remain high chiefly for those stricken before the vaccine was developed, or for those who since 1956 neglected to get inoculated and thus contracted polio.

March of Dimes monetary assistance to individual polio sufferers has sometimes been extremely great. To cite two instances only, patient-aid costs in the case of Mrs. Ingeborg Cully, of New York City, thus far have totaled about $25,000 and the end is not in sight; while expenditures for Tommy Davey, six years old, of Boston, have reached $50,000.

Examples: $25,000 was spent on Ingeborg Cully . . .

Aside from the enormous financial toll in patient aid, substantial New March of Dimes contributions must also be used for research. Since 1938 The National Foundation has allocated $64,600,000 on its broad-based international research program which has produced, among other outstanding achievements, the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines and, incidentally, two Nobel prizes. In 1960, research funds are estimated at $5,000,000 covering The National Foundation's three health areas of birth defects, arthritis and polio.

More than twice that sum, or $10,400,000, is needed for research in 1961.

March of Dimes contributions have also made possible the largest education program for the training of medical and health experts ever attempted by a voluntary health agency. Since 1939, when The National Foundation launched its program of professional education, outlays in this field have totaled $34,900,000; in 1960, a total of $1,500,000 in March of Dimes public contributions was required for the health organization's professional education activities. In 1961, $3,900,000 is needed for this part of the program.

. . . while another $50,000 was needed for Tommy Davey.

1950 — A DECADE OF DISASTERS — 1960

HERE'S HOW RED CROSS — the Nation's official disaster relief organization — helped. It spent $111,000,000 to rebuild homes, buy needed furniture, clothing and medical care for the injured. In 3100 major catastrophes during the past ten years, 1½ million victims of fires, floods, tornadoes, hurricanes and other tragic calamities discovered that where there's a survivor's will, there's a Red Cross way. All disaster relief is a gift — not a loan. You helped, too — through your generous support of the Red Cross and United Crusade.

A.—Yes, widows and helpless children of Confederate veterans have been eligible for pension payments since July 1, 1958.

Pee Wee Golf, Other Petitions Sent To Council

Three applications for variance from city codes and one for use permit were approved by the Daly City Planning Commission last week and sent to the City Council for final approval at the latter's June 12 meeting.

Thomas McClure and Richard Pizza's application for use permit is asking the City Council to allow the establishment of a Pee Wee Golf Course on Teresa Terrace, the northeast corner of Market street and Hillside Boulevard. McClure resides at 432 Castle street and Richard Piazza lives at 272 Chester street, both in Daly City.

The three applications for variance from the code include the Assembly of God Church request to reduce front setbacks on both Los Banos and Los Olivos avenues, William Lagomarsino's petition to construct three single-family dwellings on the corner of Willits and Citrus avenue, and an application by the Frank Building and Land Corporation to resubdivide the Concordia Land Company into two lots.

Assembly of God Church seeks to reduce the front setbacks from Los Banos and Los Olivos avenues from 15 feet to zero feet and increase the maximum lot coverage from 80 per cent to 85 per cent on their Mission street tract.

Lagomarsino, resident of 1700 Mission street, Daly City, seeks to construct the three dwellings by reducing the lot size to about 1850 square feet rather than the two present 2500 square foot, two-lot holding.

Frank Building and Land Corporation, 1500 Geneva street, San Francisco, will petition the City Council also on June 12 to resubdivide Concordia Land Company into two lots, reduce the front setback from 15 feet to zero feet on Lowell street, decrease the minimum lot area from 2500 square feet to 2190 square feet, and increase the lot coverage from 50 per cent to a maximum of 65 per cent.

An application for use permit by Fred Pasero, 33 Vale street, for parking facilities near San Mateo avenue and Market street was withdrawn.

Two communications, one on letters discussing violations of health and safety standards by two Daly City residents, and the other on a report from the San Mateo County Planning Commission relating information from the Bureau of Census on 1960 age characteristics of county cities, were both held over for the next Planning Commission meeting of June 13.

Also held over was an application for use permit by Art-Craft Neon Company, 2230 Third stret, San Francisco, for installation of a flasher unit for its existing sign at 2089 Junipero Serra boulevard.

LAW IN ACTION

WILFUL, DELIBERATE AND PREMEDITATED

The punishment for first degree murder is death or life in prison; for second degree, five years to life; for voluntary manslaughter, one to ten years.

In each case there is killing on purpose, but with a difference.

1. First degree is a killing with malice aforethought—a planned, wanton killing, such as by poison, lying in wait, or torture. Killing during other dangerous crimes such as robbery, burglary, arson, mayhem, or the like is first degree murder.

2. Second degree murder is any other killing with malice aforethought but lacking some element of first degree. For example, it may be "wilful and deliberate, but not premeditated." The jury may also find that it was not done during an otherwise dangerous crime, but during, say, a fight.

Perhaps the killing may lack cruelty or viciousness, and hence, no "deliberation." In view of the killer's immaturity, intoxication, or state of mind, the jury may find the killing was not wilful.

3. Voluntary manslaughter is not a killing in self-defense which is "justifiable homicide," but a killing one does on purpose but provoked by the victim. Thus, no "malice aforethought."

In his defense the accused may show the court that he was provoked enough so that the court might speak of the killing in "a sudden quarrel or heat of passion." Examples: An unprovoked attack by the victim; a quarrel that breaks out into violence.

Yet the jury can find murder if there was malice aforethought, no matter how short the time to make it wilful, deliberate, and premeditated.

The jury may find that the provocation was not enough to justify a reasonable man's action. The accused may be a hot-headed killer, that is, a murderer.

Six Youths To Review Their Baptismal Vows

On Sunday, June 4, at 11 a.m. at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, six youths will renew their baptismal covenant through the rite of Confirmation.

Preparation which included study in the Holy Bible and teachings of the church over a period of two years has prepared and found Misses Joyce Freund, Lauretta Kimble, Susan McCourtie, Sarah Tweet, Larry Kruczynski and Floyd Parma ready for acceptance into communicant membership.

Sunday, June 4:

8:30 and 11 a.m.—Two morning worship services
Sermon: "A Life-long Confirmation"
Holy Communion celebrated at both services.

9:30 a.m. Sunday School—3 years through Adult Bible Class.

11—Nursery care for children under 5 years of age.

Delphiniums, once they've lost their first bloom, should be given a boost toward a second flush of color. Cut the old flower stalks off about six or eight inches above the ground, scratch in a fistfull of complete fertilizer around each plant and water it in thoroughly. Your rewards will be forthcoming later in the summer.

Pinching a plant at the proper time is the gardener's way of encouraging bushier growth and more bloom. This is especially true with bedding plants which you set out from nursery flats. Don't worry about losing that first flower bud. Let the plants establish themselves after setting them out; then take a good healthy pinch off the top of each one.

Linda Mar Carnival To Be Held Saturday

Clowns, free balloons, cotton candy, hot dogs and games will highlight "Funtierland Time," the PTA Carnival at Linda Mar School Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Prizes will be given to everyone and live pony rides will be available.

During the last Linda Mar PTA meeting, Mrs. Streeper's fifth grade youngsters presented Stravinsky's "Firebird Ballet." Mr. Martin's fifth graders presented its "Project 21," and individual projects were presented from Miss Swett's opportunity class.

Roses in bloom are a summer treat that no garden with any sun should be without. If you failed to plant them earlier this year during bare root season, drop in at any California Assn. of Nurserymen nursery this month and make up for it. Not only do roses transplant easily from containers, but in buying now you can choose from plants in bloom. This has obvious advantages that make up for your tardiness.

Gardener's Checklist

1—Feed Azaleas, Camellias and Rhododendrons if it's been a month or six weeks since their last meal.

2—Shop for container grown Roses in bloom. In your garden keep faded Rose blooms cut off.

3—Plant the dwarf Dahlias for a quick show of color.

4—Feed potted and container grown Fuchsias and Begonias with liquid fish fertilizer.

5—Water lawns deeply to discourage shallow rooting. Use a soaker on sloping lawns to prevent needless runoff.

Indian Chief, William Red Fox, Appearing Thurs., Fri., Sat. At QFI

Retirement was too dull for William Red Fox, 90-year-old chief of the Ogallala Sioux. He is out scouting the country again and will be visiting QFI Store, Buri Buri, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 1, 2, 3.

Red Fox is a descendant of a long line of warriors. His father, Chief Black Eagle, and his uncle, Chief Crazy Horse, assisted in defeating General George A. Custer at the Little Big Horn, June 25, 1876.

Red Fox is visiting this city as a good-will ambassador for the Rath Packing Company.

The chief has visited schools, hospitals, Scout and civic meetings throughout the country illustrating tribal dances and Indian sign language, playing the tom-tom, and weaving exciting stories of Indian lore and customs.

He has an unusual talent for remembering events of his lifetime, including his friendships with such people as Theodore Roosevelt, Buffalo Bill Cody and Annie Oakley.

Although he was only six at the time, he remembers many incidents concerning the Little Big Horn.

"It was a very hot day, and I was with the other children, women and old men about nine miles from the battlefield. There was a victory dance after the battle.

"The next day, my people left for Canada, but all the elderly Indians remained behind with the younger ones. We stayed in and around the Big Horn Basin.

"We were soon rounded up by soldiers under General Alfred Terry and returned to the Rose Bud Pine Ridge and Standing Rock Reservations," he said.

In 1877, Red Fox and other young Braves were sent to the government Indian school in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, from which he graduated in 1889. He then attended the University of Wisconsin for two years. In 1891, he became employed by the Indian Bureau in Washington, D. C., but became restless and wanted to be "free."

He started to travel, and soon joined Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. While with the show, he appeared before many crown heads of Europe. He met Queen Victoria in London when she celebrated her Golden Anniversary as head of the British Empire.

Red Fox remained with the Buffalo Bill Show until joining the Navy in 1898 for the Spanish-American War. He served four years in the Asiatic Fleet.

Again he returned to the Buffalo Bill Show and this time toured Europe for four years. He has visited every country in the world except Finland, he said.

In 1908, the Chief joined the 101 Ranch Wild West Show and remained with it until becoming engaged with the motion picture industry in 1910. Since that time, he has appeared in 107 films.

Although he is 90, the Chief still rides and ropes. He says, "If you want to get old, just retire, sit still and do nothing." Hoping "to stay young for many moons," he works several hours a day and takes long walks.

The chief's home is in Corpus Christi, Texas. He has three children. One son is a geologist for an oil firm in Venezuela and another son is an architect in Corpus Christi. The daughter is married to a physician in Great Neck, New York.

There's A Real Trick To Shade Gardening

Shade gardening is a subject that could stand having some light thrown on it. For there are degrees of shade, and gardeners who choose the wrong one to plant a certain shrub in are due for disappointment.

Begonias and many others—Fuchsias, for example—are not at their best when given too dense an overgrowth to shade them. Flower production falls off and plants grow spindly. These are ever so much better for planting in filtered sun or even part sun, providing it doesn't come at high noon under Valley conditions.

In deep shade such as you'll find directly under the low branches of trees, it usually pays to be content with non-blooming evergreens. Ferns are an obvious good choice since they thrive in shade of most any sort, so long as moisture is available. A shade garden might well be created around nothing but ferns.

Also in shade, the big, bold leaves of Fatsia are perfectly adapted both in looks and cultural desires (if they get no sun they tend to become leggy). Aucuba is happy, also, though the Gold Dust Plant which is best known of the Aucubas, looks better where its flecked foliage picks up the sun. Fragrant Sarcococca is a natural for dark shade, where its glossy foliage and summer berries always stand out.

Where shade is less dense, your selection of flowering material increases. Begonias and Fuchsias, as mentioned above, like high, light shade or filtered sun. Likewise Hydrangeas and Flowering Maple (not a Maple at all but a flowering shrub with Maple-like leaves and red, bell-shaped blooms). This latter is an unusual shrub and worth introducing yourself to, if you've never seen it.

Presidio Gives DC Women Cash, Honors

Mrs. Emilia C. Davidson and Mrs. Gladys I. McVicar, both of Daly City, received "sustained superior performance checks and certificates," Colonel H. H. Rogers, Sixth United States Deputy Chief of Staff, announced recently at the Presidio.

Mrs. Davidson, 161 Park Plaza, received $150 for outstanding rating and sustained superior performance as budget analyst of the Office of the Surgeon.

Mrs. McVicar, 198 Fairlawn avenue, was awarded $100 for her performance as clerk-stenographer in the Office of the Ordnance Officer.

Mrs. Esther P. Chun, 125 Bosworth street, South San Francisco, also was awarded $150 for her performance as general supply assistant in the Office of the Quartermaster.

The awards were made at the half-way mark in the Chief of Staff's Suggestion Month, in which "a breakthrough to a more positive and progressive thinking on improving things which become obsolete without full awareness" occurred, according to Col. Rogers.

Ex-Soviet Rocket Developer Tells Of Russ Space Schedule

The Soviet Union will try at least two more manned space flights this year, one to circle the earth, the other perhaps the moon.

In 1962, the Soviets are planning to set up one or two automatic stations on the moon, which will send back information on temperature, landing and other conditions. If both the manned observation flight and the instrumented station landings are successful, the USSR will then try to place a man on the moon.

The predictions come from Dr. Grigori Aleksandrovich Tokaty, former chief scientist and deputy head of the USSR Long Range Rocket Group, who was responsible for much of the early Soviet rocket development before leaving the USSR in 1949 for ideological reasons.

Dr. Tokaty has been in this country for the past month as visiting lecturer in engineering at UCLA and consultant on American space problems. He is now a British citizen and heads the Department of Aero Space Engineering at Northhampton College of Advanced Technology, London.

The current space race between the Soviet Union and the United States is only a warm-up for the real competition, which will start in five to seven years when both countries will try to place permanent space stations in orbit, Dr. Tokaty predicts.

Soviet engineers and scientists have been working intensively on this project for the last few years. Their plans, Dr. Tokaty reports, call for the orbiting of a 10 to 12-ton instrumented satelite, which will be joined by a second, manned vehicle. Rockets will send up additional instruments and materials, allowing the 10 to 15-man crew to construct an elaborate and practically permanent space station.

Dr. Tokaty attributes the success of the Soviets' space effort to complete centralization of all programs under one ministry, thorough theoretical proof for all projects before any experiments are started, and Russia's traditional excellence in mathematics and long history of rocket studies.

VM 5th Graders Build 'Volcanos'

Fifth grade students in Mr. Don Knudsen's class at Vista Mar School have been developing numerous experiments, closely correlated with the social science unit of class work.

Among the experiments are a map of the United States, which is wired to test students' knowledge of State Capitols, a galvanometer which measures the flow of electric current, a small model volcano which can be made to erupt chemically, and a small rocket launcher utilizing the principle of oxidation.

In other Vista Mar events, Dr. Jerome Disque, San Francisco State College, brought two State University of Buffalo instructors to the elementary school for a discussion with Marjorie Tobias on the functional aspects of school and its curriculum.

Dr. Lorraine Lange, Director of Elementary and Secondary Education, and Dr. Robert MacVittie, Dean of the College of Buffalo, also discussed the physical plant and students' reaction to the school.

Dr. Disque has worked previously with teachers and principal of Vista Mar directing programs of teacher training.

TV and RADIO

By Mona Baker

Each summer thousands of eager high school youngsters begin the usually discouraging task of trying to find summer jobs. To assist them in their efforts, KGO-TV is offering its facilities in a planned campaign which we believe is an outstanding public service. Channel 7 has joined forces with the State Employment Service in a cooperative effort aimed at providing more summer jobs for Bay Area students. During the week of June 11 to 18 the station will feature special spots as well as a feature film showing youngsters occupied in gainful employment.

According to General Manager David M. Sacks: "We're going to make all of our facilities available in this effort to arouse people to the students' needs and to give them the right information about employment procedures." Coastal Area Manager March Johnson of the Department of Employment stated: "Our offices will provide the mechanics through which dependable young people can be placed where needed."

As a further public relations gesture, KGO-TV is making the feature film (produced by Gordon Waldear, well-known for his "Expedition — California" series) available free for showing before Bay Area service organizations and groups.

Special recognition came last week to Bay Area television stations KGO-TV and KRON-TV, as well as radio stations KGO and KNBC, in the form of awards from the California Associated Press Television Assn., which held its annual meeting in Paso Robles. Among programs honored by "Certificates of Excellence" was "Expedition — California" (KGO-TV), "City Hall Riots" (KRON) and "Western Farm Review" (KNBC).

Give Your Garden A Color Transfusion

It's a good bet, when summer nears, that your garden needs a transfusion of color. The sudden burst of spring has faded. Bare spots are beginning to show. And unless you act now, it won't get much better.

The logical transfusion should come in the form of bedding annuals. Set out now, they will be ready to carry the burden of color in a few short weeks.

June is a good month still to plant Marigolds — both the dwarf and giants. Use the dwarfs to edge a walk, the taller ones to back a border.

Zinnias should be planted in a sunny bed—the sunnier the better. Here is one annual that most gardeners prefer in mixed colors and you will probably agree. The California Association of Nurserymen also suggests:

Asters in rows for cutting or in beds for display; Petunias in beds of pure or mixed colors or in planter boxes where their trailing habit can be used to advantage; annual Phlox in beds of mixed colors; Snapdragons in mixed or single colors and Stocks in beds of a single color, unless your taste dictates mixing them.

Before transferring any bedding plants from the nursery flats to your garden, take a few licks at the bed you are to plant them in. Turn the soil to a depth of at least 12 inches and work in steer manure. If your soil is heavy or compacted, follow this by working in a commercial soil conditioner. Then water the bed thoroughly so that the young plants won't go into a dry soil.

After-planting care should include cultivating to keep weeds down, frequent watering (preferably by irrigation or with a soaker), feeding once every month or six weeks and, if plants need it, staking. Lastly, you will be bloom ahead if, when the plants are six to eight inches high, you pinch out the terminal growth and force side branching with its subsequent increase in bloom. When the flowers come, if you keep them picked have a summer of color for before they go to seed, you will sure.

County Presents Swim Programs

More than 25 public agencies, 21 private agencies, and 2,240 individual families are providing swimming areas, pools and facilities, and in many cases programs of instruction, for the summer leisure time of youngsters and adults of San Mateo County.

San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Department's summer swimming got under way at Flood Park last Saturday, the Coyote Point Beach Lifeguard service began with weekend service only until school is out, and then daily service during the summer months.

Earl Crockett of Menlo Park is the Beach Manager, and Dan Lynch and Ralph Whitten of San Mateo are lifeguards.

The Memorial Park swimming facilities are developed by damming the Pescadero Creek which flows through the park. The opening at Memorial Park is planned for the Memorial Day weekend.

The American Red Cross is coordinating and cooperating with all the education agencies and recreation agencies to provide swimming instruction and safety practices and procedures for the thousands of swimmers in the county.

In Daly City the Jefferson High School pool is used by youngsters from Pacifica, Brisbane and Bayshore as well as Daly City. Approximately eight family private pools are located here. Pacifica residents will have a pool in September at the High School in Linda Mar. The City of Pacifica youngsters are transported to the Jefferson High School.

South San Francisco High School provides summer Red Cross programs and recreational swimming. About four private family swimming pools are located here.

Over 1,071 pools are located throughout the unincorporated areas of the county. The YMCA's have pools in their camps near La Honda and Pescadero. The Pescadero Creek is dammed for swimming in Portola State Park and in Memorial Park. The Pacific Ocean beaches in San Mateo County are unsafe for swimming.

INDIANS CLINCH THIRD WITH 5-0 WIN, FORCE SSF INTO 'MUST' WIN TODAY

Three insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth and tough three-hit pitching by right-hander Stan Montalbo ended South San Francisco's hopes for an undisputed league championship, as the Jefferson Union High School Indians won its season finale 5-0.

Coach Steve Mezzera's Indian nine anchored third place in final Peninsula Athletic League standings and forced South City's Warriors into a "must" win over league-leading Westmoor High Wednesday afternoon.

Head mentor Ron Losberger of Westmoor will have two ace (no-hit) pitchers, Jerry Christman and Barry Krohn, out to protect their league leadership (10-3) against South City, now 9-4.

The Warriors must win to gain a share of the title, while the Westmoor Rams have led the PAL all season and would hate to share the title in its second consecutive baseball championship.

Jefferson's Indians, a scrappy clutch-hitting outfit in its final 1961 game, were led by the Montalbo brothers—Stan with his tough hitting, and first baseman Tony Montalbo's two hits, stolen base, and rbi.

After Stan staved off an early first inning rally by South San Francisco, the Indian hitters went to work for what proved to be the winning tally.

With one out, Tony Montalbo drove a John Morris pitch deep over left fielder Duke Tadday's head for a double.

After Indian center fielder Rich Reitz posted out number two, catcher John Souza crashed another liner in the same spot as Montalbo's drive and steamed into third base with a run-batted-in triple.

Despite five Jefferson High errors, Stan Montalbo consistently worked himself out of difficulty by standing seven men in four innings—the second through the fifth.

In the last of the fifth, Jefferson's fired-up—and underdogged—nine made an error and single stand up for what appeared to be an important insurance run for a 2-0 lead.

Stan led off with a grounder to Warrior third baseman Brian Cute. Cute bobbled the ball, and Stan advanced to second on a neat sacrifice by left fielder Rod Stoller. Right fielder Jack Fuertes cracked a single through the left side, sending Stan home with the second run of the game.

Jefferson High clinched the win in the bottom of the sixth with some inspired back-to-back hitting for three more runs and Stan Montalbo pitched a fine stint in the last, top of the seventh inning to conclude the game.

Souza led off the sixth with a walk, Claus followed with a bunt single, and both runners advanced to second and third when the peg to first went wild.

Second baseman Mike Rovai singled past short stop and both runners scored when Tadday threw wild to third.

Mike Kennedy followed with a single deep in the hole, and—following two strikeouts—Fuertes was hit by a Morris pitch to load up the bags.

Tony Montalbo drove in a run with a sharp single over the third base bag, driving in Rovai for the final run of the season. Reitz flew out to deep center field to end the inning.

In the top of the seventh, Stan Montalbo got Morris on a grounder, gave up a single to Ming, and fanned Vina and Ron Muneno for the final outs.

Coach Mezzera expressed his pleasure on ending the season with a strong showing: "You proved you could play fine ball today."

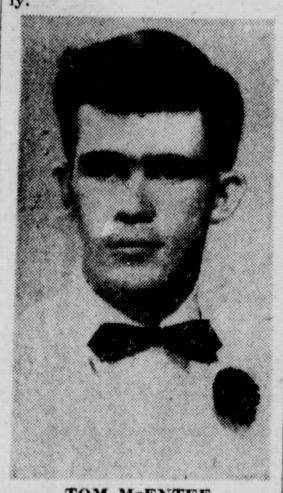
Tom McEntee Plans Fall College Studies

Studies in criminology, law, journalism and the social sciences at San Jose State College are Tom McEntee's future goals, the Jefferson High School senior class president confided recently.



TOM McENTEE
Makes College Plans

With considerable outstanding achievements already acquired throughout his high school years, Tom's goals seem something less than impossible.

Senior class president, Boys' Block "J" president, a Democratic Party "whip" at the model senate, chairman of the foreign relations committee at the model senate, four years participation in sports at Jefferson High—varsity football, varsity basketball, varsity baseball—and his latest triumph on KCBS' "Student Viewpoint" mark McEntee for future triumphs at San Jose State College.

Indeed, his sports participation included performances on two championship teams in one year — 30's and Frosh-Soph baseball championships in 1959.

On "Student Viewpoint" Tom won the weekly competition speaking on the topic "Juvenile Delinquency." He is one of 13 weekly winers now competing for first and second place prizes of $100 and $50 savings bonds respectively. The school from which the winner comes also will receive a permanent trophy. Winners will be announced by KCBS in June.

Student speakers on "Student Viewpoint" were judged by a postcard vote from listeners.

Additional achievements for McEntee include his activity last semester as sports editor or Jefferson High School's student newspaper, "Totem Pole," and his current sports editorship of the Yearbook.

Tom lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. McEntee, at 334 Irvington street.

The Misrack's Cardinals edged out Visitation in a real contest. Bob Bertalani put the game on ice when he made a great catch of a hard hit Visitation ball with the bags loaded and two out.

Our Lady of Mercy Cardinals scattered hits like a broken bag of popcorn, (21 in all), as they riddled the Holy Angels Colts, 32-1.

Hughes Texaco wiped out the BYA Tigers, 9-0. Dave Loutzenheiser tossed a three hitter in the role of winning pitcher. Terry Senn ran his total of RBI's up to ten for two games.

RAMS WIN!

Rams Beat So. SF 4-2 For PAL Championship

By LARRY RUIZ

Brilliant pitching, come-from-behind hitting, and careful strategy brought head-coach Ron Losberger his second consecutive Peninsula Athletic League title for Westmoor High's Rams yesterday afternoon.

With the chips down in the postponed South San Francisco Warrior game — the makeup championship duel—Ram pitchers Terry Christman and Barry Krohn blazed a trail of 15 strikeouts enabling late inning heroics to capture the 4-2 triumph.

Had right-hander Duke Tadday of the Warriors been able to halt a three-run Westmoor rally in the top of the seventh, second place South City would have tied the Rams for the 1961 PAL Championship.

But in the battle of no-hit pitchers, calm, cool Tadday was nipped for a pair of infield singles and a big blast by third baseman Billy Hix for a triple in Westmoor last-chance seventh spelled defeat.

First inning previews left little to choose from, as both Christman and Tadday fanned one each and gave up no hits.

Then, in the top of the second, Krohn—playing first base—beat out a high grounder to second, then barrelled into second with a stolen base, and continued on to third as the catcher's throw sailed into center.

With no one out, Tadday faced cleanup batter Cornell Holmes. "Nubby" hit a strong grounder to shortstop Tom Ming, who held Krohn on third with a fake, and pegged to first, getting Holmes.

But Krohn then raced for the plate.

The big, square-jawed Krohn was tagged out by catcher Steve Vina, and Tadday had survived.

In the last of the second, Christman was really hot, coming in with big left-handed curves and a fast ball, fanning the side, and repeating the exhibition in the third frame!

Tadday, meanwhile, continued careful, side-arm hurling into the third and fourth Westmoor innings. The score was deadlocked, 0-0, going into the last of the fourth.

Warrior first sacker Kray Hensley led off with a line shot at the foot of Krohn at first. The ball squirted behind him, and Kensley was safe at first by a hair on second baseman Steve Funai's late throw.

Bryan Cute followed with a short fly over third, putting runners on first and third with no outs. A double steal put runners at the keystone and third, and Christman fanned Jim Dombroski. Tadday grounded out to the pitcher, and it looked as though Christman would survive.

Then right fielder John Morris hit a grounder to short, and Rich Morales lost the handle. Too late he pegged to first, with Hensley already crossing the plate and Cute rounding third. Krohn fired to catcher Steve Payette and it looked like Cute would be out, but the ball was misjudged, and Cute scored.

Behind 2-0, Westmoor got into the scoring column, as Krohn led off with a walk, and Holmes put runners on first and second when Warrior Cute tossed wide of second on a double play grounder.

Trying to get Holmes at first, catcher Vina threw wide of the bag, and both runners advanced.

Tadday, beguiled by errors, walked Payette, and then walked Ron Townsend, scoring Krohn. Tadday recovered to fan Scott Shakleford and got Funai and Hix on flies to right.

Krohn then traded place with Christman, and South San Francisco had had it. Broad-shouldered Krohn struck out the side in the fifth, got two more "K's" in the sixth, and struck out the side again in the seventh. He was the winning pitcher.

Westmoor wrapped it up in the seventh when infield grounders became hits at third and behind first by Payette and Townsend. After a field's choice, runners Payette was at third and Shakleford at first with one out.

Funai sacrificed neatly, squeezing home Payette with the tying run, and went to first on the throw to home. Shakeleford going into third was thrown out.

Then Hix caught a Tadday fast ball and drove it out of sight between Warrior left and center fielders, scoring Funai. Hix scored when Christman hit a Texas-league single into short center, posting the final count, 4-2.

Krohn came on in the last of the seventh to strike out the side with a blazing left-handed fast ball, wrapping up the championship.

And Coach Losberger planned it that way! He had already planned to use both Christman and Krohn on the mound.

Openings Sold Out In Mercy Men's Golf

Al Swadley, social director for Our Lady of Mercy Men's Club, recently announced starting positions for the annual golf stag at Sonoma Country Club have been sold out.

However, Swadley emphasized, "If any men would just like to enjoy the barbecue they are welcome. They should contact me at PLaza 5-9294."

Jerry Reed of the Iwing Club team had the spectators on the edge of their seats last Friday night as he calmly rolled five consecutive strikes in the Friday Jackpot Sweepers Rolloff to take home the jackpot of $255.80. He defeated Tim Dunn, who had won the Sweepers to qualify for the rolloff.

"Cabaret Night" is the theme of the final YWCA social event of the season on June 10. Rather than hold an evening fashion show and dinner dance, as last year, it was decided to have a dinner dance with entertainment. The Mechams will furnish the program for the evening with danceable music by Walt Tolleson.

The "Family Doubles" is off to a flying start as all combinations of family members are competing in one of the five divisions. The husband and wife combination has been added to the divisions in which trophy prizes will be awarded. Family members may bowl any time during the day or weekend in this, the first tournament of its type ever held in the area.

Travel seems to agree with Bonnie Birkett of the Schillings team. Bowling in the Thursday morning Brunswick Travel League, at a different bowling center each week, she had games of 207 and 225 last week to take high honors.

Don Wroten led the qualifiers in the Men's House Championship with a total of 1,125 for the five-game series, although Tony Miley made a last minute effort to take over the leadership with 1,105 total, including a 275 game. Tony's game entitled him to membership in The Westlake Bowl 275 Club and a membership belt and buckle.

Eileen Gordon has been bowling only a few short months but already is considering taking it up as a livelihood. While husband Joe clips hair at his barber shop, Eileen continues to take home prizes. Her latest achievement, together with Joe, was to take first place prize of $20 in the Sunday Satellite Scotch Doubles with 75 couples competing.

Carmel Navarro and Natalie Plotnik traveled to Santa Rosa last Sunday and returned in possession of first place in the Holiday Bowl Junior Tournament. They bowled identical totals of 290 each for the two games.

Mr. and Mrs. Dieterle are working for the title of "Travelingest Bowlers of the Year." Recently returned from Hawaii, they are now off on a trip to Pittsburg.

Ann Johnson reports that the Friday morning YWCA Bridge Classes are increasing each week. Last Friday there were eight tables of players.

The ladies from Westlake are taking to the highways during the next few weeks to compete in The Annual Housewives' Tournament at Bel Mateo Bowl.
